

DISTRICT OF 100 Mile House

BUSINESS NEWS December 2025

Updated Sign Bylaw

The District has updated the Sign Bylaw to better reflect the needs of business in 100 Mile House. The new bylaw will provide greater flexibility for business signage, more clarity around Sign Permit requirements, overall better readability, and supports fair and consistent enforcement. Some of the highlights where major changes were made: sandwich boards will now be permitted, subject to some regulations; businesses will be able to choose a mix of signage that works for them, there are some Special District Areas that have greater signage flexibility, and the bylaw is overall more simple and easy to read. The new Sign Bylaw is expected to be adopted by Council early in 2026.

Official Community Plan and Zoning Bylaw Update

This year, the Official Community Plan (OCP) and Zoning bylaw underwent a significant review. The major goal of the review was to align with provincial legislative requirements to ensure 100 Mile House has adequate land use capacity to meet its projected housing needs over the next 20 years

Related goals were to update, simplify, and streamline the bylaws for better public understanding and greater ease of staff administration and enforcement where applicable. The update also sought to address and confirm the community's vision and goals as expressed during the public engagement process. Some of the key changes include: creation of more housing options, ensuring high-quality design, preserving agricultural and industrial lands, and improving clarity in the Zoning Bylaw. The bylaws are in final draft stages, and are expected to be presented to Council early in the new year. Following that, the bylaws will be sent to referral agencies for comment, after which a Public Hearing will be scheduled. The new bylaws should be ready for adoption soon after that.
